

INTERNATIONAL LAW: A CASUALTY IN THE “WAR ON TERROR?”

Monday, June 18, 2018

Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

55 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY

Third Floor Lounge

6:00 pm

Reception to follow

Join Cardozo Visiting Professor Gabor Rona in conversation with Professor Marco Sassoli of the University of Geneva, Switzerland on how international law related to national security is surviving in the Trump era.

Prof. Marco Sassoli is universally recognized as one of the world's leading authorities on the application of international law to armed conflict. He is Director of the Department of International Law and International Organizations at the University of Geneva, Switzerland and the former head of the Legal Division of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

Prof. Gabor Rona is a Visiting Professor of Law at Cardozo School of Law, where he teaches international human rights law, international criminal law and international humanitarian law. He is the Chairperson of the UN Working Group on Mercenaries and has previously served as the International Legal Director of Human Rights First, as well as a Legal Adviser in the Legal Division of the International Committee of the Red Cross in Geneva.

RSVP NOW