

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA

Marisol P. Q.,
Petitioner,

ORDER

Civil File No. 26-1055 (MJD/DJF)

Pamela Bondi, et al.,
Respondents.

John Hayden, Quantum Lex, PA, Counsel for Petitioner.

David W. Fuller, Jesus Cruz Rodriguez, Trevor Brown, Assistant United States Attorneys, Counsel for Respondents.

Before the Court are Petitioner's Status Report and the Affidavit of Petitioner's Attorney, Mary M. Nikolai. (Docs. 19, 20.) The documents note that while Respondents complied with the Court's directive in the Order to Show Cause to immediately return Petitioner to Minnesota, since her release, Petitioner has been required to attend two Intensive Supervision Appearance Program ("ISAP") appointments and has another appointment scheduled for today. Ms. Nikolai states that at one of the appointments, their Spanish-speaking interpreter was required to wait outside the room. (Nickolai Aff. ¶ 7.) These experiences were upsetting to Petitioner because last week, she was taken into custody at a routine immigration appointment. (Doc. 19 at 1-2.)

Petitioner asserts that she has no guarantee that she will not be detained again, given that she was abducted at an ISAP appointment last week. She also argues that these constant appointments make it impossible for her to return to work or to care for her grandchild. (Id. at 2.)

Finally, Petitioner states Respondents failed to return to her personal belongings that they seized when they abducted her last week. Upon information and belief, these belongings include her social security card, work permit, Columbian license, and Real ID.

There is no need for a lengthy analysis here. Petitioner has done everything right since she entered the country seeking asylum. (Doc. 1 at 4; R&R at 1.) She is not subject to deportation and should never have been detained by ICE officials and shipped off to Texas. When she was returned to Minnesota, she should not have been released empty-handed, but should have been given her personal belongings.

Accordingly, based upon the files, records, and proceedings herein, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that:

1. Neither Respondents nor their employees (i.e., "ICE") may take
Petitioner into custody or move her out of Minnesota;

2. Respondents are ordered to remove any conditions on Petitioner's release; and
3. Respondents are ordered to return all Petitioner's personal belongings and documents on or before 12:00 p.m. Central Time on February 13, 2026.

Dated: February 12, 2026

s/ Michael J. Davis
Michael J. Davis
United States District Court